

Adapting to the Changing Diamond Market

The diamond business is rapidly changing. Those who already understand the value of strategic alliances, branding, niche marketing, and high ethical standards will prevail in the "survival of the fittest" shakeout, say market watchers.

