AND THE BRIDE WORE ... JEWELS

OUR FOUR WEDDING EXPERTS WEIGH IN ON THE LATEST TRENDS IN JEWELRY FOR today's sophisticated bride. Preston Bailey says, "Bridal jewelry is not only about the engagement ring anymore. These days, women also want important pieces that will make a statement at their weddings and that they can wear forever."

All of our experts agree that a strand of pearls is no longer the ubiquitous accent to the bridal gown and all believe that jewelry has become an integral part of the total look for their client's wedding day.

Something old might be a great antique or period brooch, while something new might be long earrings. Since Fred Leighton and Neil Lane only lend for celebrity weddings, something borrowed could be an important heirloom piece that's been handed down from generation to generation. Something blue could include sapphire accents on a diamond pendant or bracelet.
