LIVE AUCTION OF HENRY MILLER'S ART

Fine Art Showcase host Barry Chappell will offer collectors and fans an extraordinary opportunity to purchase writer/artist Henry Miller's original water color paintings, limited edition prints and personal memorabilia during a LIVE AUCTION Sat, April 22. Henry Miller aficionados will have the chance to acquire a piece of history outside a traditional art gallery setting. Some of the most important original paintings that were precious to the artist are part of the auction including one that he painted 2 days before his death called

"Henry in the Red Vest." The leader in educational and entertaining home shopping, Mr. Chappell will introduce Miller's works on this rare simultaneous broad/webcast occasion on Direct TV Channel 239, Echo Star Channel 225 and on streaming video on FAS's site fineartshowcase.com at 6pm PST.

ed.nt.: Find an archive edition of Henry Miller (1891-1980) Tropic of Cancer and Tropic of Capricorn which are his most famous works and chronicle Miller's lives and loves (including Anaïs Nin) while living as an expatriate in Paris in 1930s. Thirty years of censorship debates ensued until they were published in the States. - LM
